

Original Work: My Final Builder Original Work

Chesie Yu

From INFO 101, I have learned to create webpages using HTML - this is something that I could not have done before taking this class. So for this final builder original work, I would love to create a webpage to show a portfolio with some pictures I took last spring, using HTML tags.

I changed the background color and text fonts through CSS stylesheet, which is something that I have never heard of before this class. For each photo I selected, I also modified their sizes so that it looks better.

In this class, I've also learned to embed stuff using HTML - and the link to this page will be displayed below for convenience.
